N13

To: (Tenant's name) include all tenant names	From: (Landlord's name)
Address of the Rental Unit:

This is a legal notice that could lead to you being evicted from your home.

The following information is from your landlord
I am giving you this notice because I want to end your tenancy. I want you to move out of your rental unit by the following termination date: / / <small>dd/mm/yyyy</small> .

My Reason for Ending your Tenancy

I have shaded the circle next to my reason for ending your tenancy.

- Reason 1: I intend to demolish the rental unit or the residential complex.
- Reason 2: I require the rental unit to be vacant in order to do repairs or renovations so extensive that I am required to get a building permit and the rental unit must be vacant to do the work.
Note: You have the right to move back into the rental unit once I have completed the repairs or renovations. If you want to move back in once the work is done, you must give me written notice telling me you want to move back in. Also, you must keep me informed in writing any time your address changes.
- Reason 3: I intend to convert the rental unit or the residential complex to a non-residential use.

Details About the Work I Plan to do

I have described below the work I plan to do for the reason shown above, including specific details about how I will carry out the work.

- I will obtain the necessary building permits or other authorization to convert demolish or repair the rental unit.
- No permits or other authorization are necessary in this case to convert the rental unit or demolish it.

Important Information from the Landlord and Tenant Board

The termination date

The termination date the landlord sets out in this notice must be at least 120 days after the landlord gives you the notice. Exception: If you live in a mobile home park or land lease community and you own the mobile home or land lease home, the termination date must be at least 1 year after the landlord gave you this notice.

Also, the termination date must be the last day of the rental period. For example, if you pay rent on the first of each month, the termination date must be the last day of a month.

Finally, if the tenancy is for a fixed term the termination date cannot be earlier than the last day of the fixed term. For example, if you signed a one-year lease, the termination date cannot be earlier than the last day of the one-year period set out in the lease.

A tenant can give 10 days' notice to end the tenancy

You can terminate the tenancy sooner than the date set out in this notice as long as you give the landlord at least 10 days' notice in writing that you intend to move out of the rental unit. You must use the Landlord and Tenant Board's Form N9 Tenant's Notice to End the Tenancy to give your written notice to the landlord.

What if you disagree with the notice?

You do not have to move out if you disagree with what the landlord has put in this notice. However, the landlord can apply to the Board to evict you. The Board will schedule a hearing where you can explain why you disagree.

What if you move out?

If you move out of the rental unit by the termination date, your tenancy ends on that date.

What if the landlord applies to the Board?

The landlord can apply to the Board to evict you immediately after giving you this notice. If the landlord applies to the Board to evict you, the Board will schedule a hearing and send you a copy of the application and the Notice of Hearing. The Notice of Hearing sets out the date, time and location of the hearing. At the hearing, the landlord will have to prove the claims they made in this Notice to End your Tenancy and in the application and you can respond to the claims your landlord makes. If the Board issues an order ending your tenancy and evicting you, the order will not require you to move out any earlier than the termination date included in this notice.

You may be entitled to compensation

If you live in a residential complex that has at least 5 rental units, the landlord may have to pay you compensation for moving out because of this notice.

If the landlord is giving you this notice for Reason 1 or Reason 3:

The landlord must:

- pay you an amount equal to 3 months' rent, or
- offer you another rental unit that is acceptable to you,

If the landlord is giving you this notice for Reason 2:

If you do not plan to move back in once the repairs or renovations are done, the landlord must:

- pay you an amount equal to 3 months' rent, or
- offer you another rental unit that is acceptable to you

You may be entitled to compensation (continued)

If you plan to move back in once the repairs or renovations are done, the landlord must pay you:

- an amount equal to 3 months' rent, or
- the rent for the period of time the rental unit is being repaired or renovated, whichever is less.

Exception for mobile homes and land lease communities:

If:

- you live in a mobile home park or land lease community,
- you own the mobile home or land lease home, and
- the landlord is giving you this notice for either Reason 1, Reason 2 or Reason 3,

the landlord must pay you:

- an amount equal to one years' rent, or
- $3,000,

whichever is less.

The landlord is not required to pay you compensation: Your landlord is not required to pay you compensation for moving out because of this notice if you live in a residential complex that has fewer than 5 rental units, or your landlord is giving you this notice because they were ordered to demolish or repair the rental unit under any Act or law.
